The Trading Ecosystem

Education, Tools, and Execution. Perfectly Aligned

www.dominionmarkets.com

Dominion Markets:

Dominion Markets was founded in 2021 by a trader for all traders world wide.

The vision has always been to build a true trader focused platform, that is not only multi-regulated, multi-licensed, multi-asset but also a hub where you as a trader can not only grow but also understand your performance in the markets. We not only focused on tight spreads, fast execution and multiple assets; we introduced Dominion Journal. The first one of its kind in the Forex/CFD space where traders can track their progress in real-time, get feed back on their trades and understand exactly how they can improve as traders.

A big part of improving as a trader is also having a dedicated section to do self reflection of your trades. For this we have introduced Trading Notes. This section is key for a trader to be able to journal 3 important things: Analysis in Pre-Trade, During the trade and Post trade review. As traders we understand controlling your emotions during these three times is crucial to your decision making.

At Dominion Markets we have not just built a dashboard where you can only move your funds around. We have built a true information centre where you are able to audit your performance. For this we introduced Trader DNA. Based on your history of trades you can now truly understand what type of a trader you across metrics like Risk Appetite, Patience, Discipline, Emotional Control and Consistency.

We can proudly say that we have set a benchmark in the Forex/CFD space for being the most trader focused firm in the industry.

The platform supports multiple industry-leading trading interfaces, including MetaTrader 5 (MT5) and cTrader, offering advanced charting tools, automation capabilities, and flexible order execution suitable for both beginners and professional traders alike. Users can trade an extensive range of instruments including 200+ currency pairs, indices, commodities, shares, and cryptocurrencies, with leverage up to 500:1, ultra-competitive spreads, and deep liquidity access.

Education and support are integral to the Dominion experience. Through market analysis, webinars, and curated educational content, the platform strives to equip traders with knowledge, risk-management skills, and confidence to navigate volatile markets.

HyroTrader: Redefining the Future of Crypto Prop Trading

HyroTrader is one of the fastest-growing crypto proprietary trading firms, pioneering a new era of transparency, innovation, and accessibility in digital-asset trading. Headquartered in Prague, the company has rapidly established itself as a leader by combining professional trading infrastructure with cutting-edge blockchain technology. As the first crypto prop firm to develop a native API integration with Bybit, HyroTrader has set a new industry benchmark for real-exchange execution, reliability, and trader autonomy.

The company's mission is clear: empower traders globally with fair, transparent, and scalable funding while pushing the boundaries of what a modern prop firm can be. HyroTrader envisions a decentralised, blockchain-driven environment where traders access capital without intermediaries, limitations, or opaque rules. This vision is becoming reality through the development of the industry's first decentralised crypto prop infrastructure built on Solana, enabling on-chain transparency, verifiable trade tracking, and permissionless payouts.

HyroTrader provides traders with funded accounts, real exchange execution, and one of the fastest scaling models in the market. In just two years, the firm has onboarded more than 30,000 traders and paid out over $3 million in rewards, data that reflects both community trust and operational strength.

Looking ahead, HyroTrader is expanding integrations across major crypto exchanges, introducing new analytics tools, and building a multi-layered ecosystem that merges prop trading, decentralised finance, and Web3-native identity. This includes the creation of an NFT-powered avatar brand, gamified trading elements, and a transparent on-chain funding protocol.

As the industry continues to evolve, HyroTrader's message to the market is simple: the future of prop trading is decentralised, transparent, and built for traders, not intermediaries. With innovation at its core, HyroTrader is committed to shaping the next generation of crypto trading infrastructure for a global community of disciplined, dedicated professionals.

Dominion Funding was born from within a well-established, globally trusted broker, built by traders who understand exactly what traders need. Having operated at the core of institutional execution, we took years of brokerage expertise, best practices, and real feedback from thousands of active traders to create a proprietary trading firm that finally solves the long-standing issues faced across the industry.

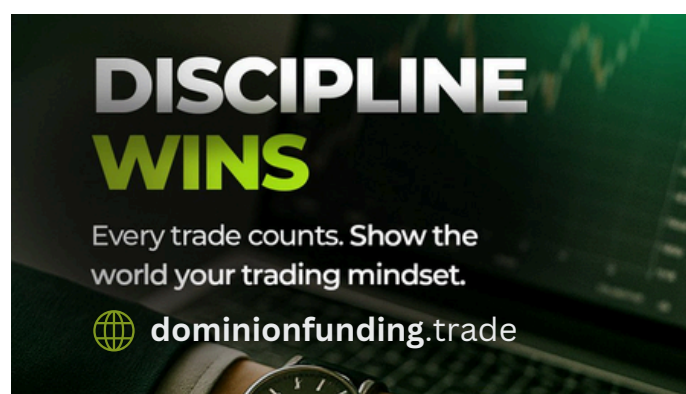

From day one, our mission has been clear: deliver a trader-focused funding experience with top-tier conditions, transparency, and reliability. Because we come from inside a high-performance brokerage environment, we know what matters most: tight spreads, stable execution, responsive support, and rules that empower, not restrict, your growth.

One of the biggest frustrations prop traders face is payout uncertainty. At Dominion Funding, we solved this by introducing a 48-hour payout commitment. Once your withdrawal request is submitted, our team guarantees processing and transfer within 48 hours. If we fail to honor this deadline, we take full accountability and pay you an additional 50% of your payout amount. A bold promise that reflects our confidence and our respect for traders.

We also removed one of the most controversial industry rules: consistency requirements. While presented as a risk-management tool, consistency rules often slow traders down, delay payouts, and punish legitimate high-performance strategies. Our philosophy is simple: if you achieve the target within the rules, you deserve your payout, without hoops, delays, or forced constraints.

Dominion Funding was built to be straightforward, fair, and trader-first. With clear rules, powerful trading conditions, and an operational backbone inherited from a multi-regulated broker, we provide a funding environment designed for traders to perform at their best.

At Dominion Funding, you're not just trading under a firm, you're trading with a partner committed to your success.

Prop Firm 2026: The New Rules (TradeFX Funds)

BY: THE TRADEFX FUNDS TEAM

“Success in Forex trading comes from persistence, continuous learning, and disciplined risk management”

The prop trading industry is demanding higher standards. If you want to secure and scale a funded account in 2026, focus on these three essential trends:

1. Consistency is King

Firms are eliminating high-risk trading. Success is no longer about speed; it's about discipline.

- Your Focus: Master your drawdown limits. The industry is favoring no-time-limit challenges to prove professional, sustainable trading habits, not fast luck.

2. Diversify Your Assets

- Pure Forex trading is limiting. Market flexibility is key to consistent profits.
- Your Focus: Trade across indices and commodities as well as currencies. This spreads risk and maintains profitability regardless of which market is active.

3. Execution Must Be Flawless

- The best firms use cutting-edge technology, and they expect you to match it.
- Your Focus: Ensure low-latency execution. Use a Virtual Private Server (VPS) to guarantee speed and stability, essential for professional trading and Expert Advisors (EAs).
- The path to funded trading now requires discipline, versatility, and technical excellence.

The modern prop firm landscape is focused squarely on identifying and rewarding serious, professional traders. The new standards emphasize consistent risk management, flexible multi-asset trading, and technical excellence in execution.

Leverage Markets: Redefining Broker Standards and Empowering Smarter Trading

In today's competitive trading landscape, Leverage Markets is rapidly positioning itself ahead of traditional brokers by prioritizing both performance and trader protection — two pillars that successful modern traders expect. While many brokers focus solely on execution speed and asset coverage, Leverage Markets elevates the trading experience by balancing powerful leverage with intelligent risk management tools.

At its core, leverage lets traders amplify their market exposure using only a fraction of required capital, a fundamental advantage that attracts both retail and professional traders alike. This financial tool, widely used across forex, commodities, indices, and CFDs, multiplies a trader's buying power and potential returns. But leverage also increases risk if not managed correctly. Here is where Leverage Markets sets itself apart.

One of the most compelling differentiators is the Trader Capital Loss Protection Program. Designed with forward-thinking risk mitigation in mind, this program goes beyond basic regulatory safeguards like negative balance protection. By proactively limiting downside while preserving upside potential, it ensures that traders never lose more than their invested capital, even during volatile market swings. This kind of protection builds confidence — particularly for new traders who want market opportunity without unnecessary risk.

Compared with many brokers who offer standard leverage and execution, Leverage Markets focuses on holistic trading support. That includes intuitive platforms, transparent spreads, robust educational resources, and responsive customer care — all engineered to help traders grow sustainably, not just speculate. In an industry where trust and performance matter most, Leverage Markets is leading the way — giving traders the tools to trade boldly while maintaining smart control.

AI IN FINANCE: POWERING THE NEXT EVOLUTION OF INTELLIGENT, SECURE, AND INCLUSIVE BANKING

By Amira Soliman
Ceo & Founder at Time Guardian | Athar

Innovative Retail Finance With Crypto Solutions.

- ★ Real-time crypto transactions for PSP networks.
- ★ AI-driven DeFi solutions ensuring optimized returns.

Artificial intelligence is revolutionizing industries worldwide, and finance is at the forefront of this change. What was once the realm of traditional services, rigid systems, and manual processes is now rapidly evolving into a digital-first, AI-powered ecosystem. From automated risk assessment to intelligent asset management and predictive analytics, AI is redefining how financial services are delivered, managed, and secured.

As customer expectations shift toward real-time, personalized, and accessible financial experiences, banks and financial institutions must embrace AI not just as a tool but as a strategic enabler. In this evolution, AI's role goes beyond automation—it is about building intelligent, secure, and inclusive financial systems that can adapt in real time and serve both individuals and institutions efficiently.

This transformation is particularly evident in markets like the United Arab Emirates, where Abu Dhabi and Dubai have become global hubs for fintech innovation. With supportive regulation, government-backed initiatives, and a strong focus on emerging technologies, the UAE is attracting pioneers in AI, blockchain, and digital finance, setting the pace for a new era in financial services.

AI'S EXPANDING ROLE IN FINANCIAL SERVICES

AI is rapidly being deployed across the financial value chain—from customer service bots and automated credit scoring to fraud detection and portfolio optimization. In retail banking, AI can analyze customer behavior and transaction data to provide personalized product recommendations and tailored investment advice, often in real time. In corporate finance, AI systems forecast cash flow, manage treasury operations, and assess market risks more accurately than ever before.

But the most significant impact lies in AI's ability to make intelligent, context-driven decisions at scale, helping financial institutions reduce inefficiencies, mitigate risks, and enhance customer engagement. Generative AI models are now being used to simulate financial scenarios, craft bespoke investment strategies, and even generate actionable market insights for traders and analysts.

However, as AI's role grows, so do concerns about transparency, security, and control. Financial institutions must ensure that AI systems are explainable, ethical, and resistant to manipulation, particularly as they handle sensitive financial data and influence critical decisions.

AI POWERED BY BLOCKCHAIN: THE PAIPAL SOLUTION, BY ATHAR FINANCE

At the intersection of AI and secure decentralized finance (DeFi) is Paipal, an innovative solution developed by Time Guardian Athar to harness AI's power within a blockchain-secured framework. Designed to bring intelligent finance to the real world, Paipal is a multi-agent AI-driven DeFi execution system that securely manages user funds across multiple blockchains while minimizing exposure to risk.

At the core of Paipal is its AI agent, which operates inside a Trusted Execution Environment (TEE). This guarantees that all strategy and risk decisions are tamper-proof, confidential, and verifiable by users. The AI agent constantly monitors market conditions, evaluates DeFi protocols, and assigns real-time risk levels. Based on this, it can decide whether to invest user funds, hold them, or withdraw from high-risk situations.

Users interact with Paipal through personal smart vaults deployed across chains like Ethereum and TernoA. Once funds are deposited, the AI agent autonomously manages yield optimization, moving liquidity between chains via AggLayer's cross-chain infrastructure. Human agents execute AI-generated orders, with the fastest execution rewarded—a system that promotes efficiency and transparency.

KEY FEATURES OF PAIPAL INCLUDE:

- AI-driven risk management operating securely within a TEE.
- Cross-chain vault deployment and fund movement, eliminating traditional bridging complexities.
- Non-custodial smart wallets, giving users full control while granting defined permissions to the AI.
- Automated DeFi interaction, optimizing yield while protecting against risks like depegging or APY shifts.
- Community governance, ensuring strategies align with user interests.

The technology powering Paipal, by Athar Finance, is developed under the leadership of Mickael Canu, a recognized expert in blockchain infrastructure and secure AI systems. His work has been instrumental in creating a platform where AI and blockchain converge to deliver intelligent, secure, and decentralized financial services.

WHY PAIPAL MATTERS IN THE BROADER AI-FINANCE CONTEXT

It represents a significant step forward in the application of AI in finance, particularly within the DeFi space. Traditional yield-generation tools either require complex manual management or expose users to custodial risks. Paipal solves both problems by offering a trustless, transparent, and automated system that ensures user control, security, and intelligent financial performance.

In the broader financial landscape, Paipal is a model of how AI agents can responsibly manage assets, adapt to real-time conditions, and execute strategies in a decentralized way—without the need for centralized oversight or intervention.

As AI adoption accelerates, platforms like Paipal demonstrate the potential for scalable, ethical, and efficient financial automation—not just for crypto users but for the financial industry as a whole.

BSX DAO: Redefining CeDeFi with Sustainable Liquidity and Rule-Based Governance

As decentralized finance continues to evolve, the industry faces persistent structural challenges—unstable liquidity, inflationary token models, short-term speculation, and limited transparency in operational governance. BSX DAO emerges as a next-generation CeDeFi protocol designed to directly address these issues by combining the strengths of centralized exchange infrastructure with decentralized, rules-based smart-contract governance.

BSX DAO operates on a CeDeFi (Centralized-Decentralized Finance) framework that integrates centralized liquidity from YUBIT Exchange with decentralized protocol logic. This hybrid architecture allows the ecosystem to maintain liquidity security within an exchange environment while ensuring that all issuance, reward, and burn mechanisms are executed transparently through smart contracts. The result is a system engineered for long-term sustainability rather than short-term yield extraction.

A Mission Focused on Sustainability and Transparency:

The core mission of BSX DAO is to establish a CeDeFi structure that promotes liquidity stability, operational clarity, and long-term user participation. By aligning exchange-backed liquidity with automated smart-contract execution, BSX DAO creates a framework where value flows are predictable, auditable, and resistant to the volatility commonly seen in traditional DeFi ecosystems.

A Multi-Token Economic Structure

BSX DAO operates on a three-token model designed for clarity and balance. $BTH serves as the Layer-1 foundation of the ecosystem. $POB functions as a bond certificate that controls daily issuance and conversion rights, while $BSX is the core utility token used for buybacks, staking rewards, and redemptions. This clear separation of roles supports sustainable token demand and economic stability.

Strategic Integration with YUBIT Exchange

BSX DAO is deeply integrated with YUBIT Exchange, where liquidity is kept securely within the exchange rather than external DeFi pools. Supported by perpetual trading revenue, professional liquidity management, a USD 126 million reserve fund, and USD 70 billion in daily trading volume, this model significantly reduces liquidity risk and strengthens protocol-owned liquidity.

Protocol-Owned Liquidity and Automated Governance

The ecosystem is built on a Protocol-Owned Liquidity (POL) model, ensuring long-term liquidity control by the protocol itself. Core functions including issuance, staking rewards, distribution, and burn mechanisms are fully automated through smart contracts, eliminating discretionary control and enhancing transparency.

Bond-Based Issuance and Token Utility

BSX DAO employs a bond-based POB issuance model with a predictable daily output of 1% of bond value under predefined rules. POB holders can either burn tokens with a 50% BSX deposit to redeem USDT or stake POB to earn BSX rewards, with daily yields ranging from 0.5% to 1.2%.
